

Stuck at Home

*A One-Act Play
by Bryan Starchman*

Performance Rights

It is an infringement of the federal copyright law to copy or reproduce this script in any manner or to perform this play without royalty payment. All rights are controlled by Eldridge Publishing Co., Inc. Contact the publisher for additional scripts and further licensing information. The author's name must appear on all programs and advertising with the notice: "Produced by special arrangement with Eldridge Publishing Company."

ELDRIDGE PUBLISHING COMPANY

© 2021 by Bryan Starchman

Download your complete script from Eldridge Publishing
<https://histage.com/stuck-at-home-one-act-version>

AUTHOR'S NOTE

Thank you for producing my play. During these times of social distancing and sheltering in place it has become necessary to think outside the box and so this play is intended to be presented using an online meeting platform like Zoom. With the way technology is always changing, I use Zoom in this script the way we call facial tissue Kleenex or hook and loop fasteners Velcro. Feel free to use whatever technology is available to you. Feel free to put this play on even when we are no longer sheltering in place since this is a shared experience that we will not soon forget. I also wrote this play so that it could easily be performed on stage once we are finally able to return to the theater! (Personally, I can't wait to return to Broadway to enjoy a live show or two...or three...or four.)

You may have four actors play the stock characters (Dad, Mom, Son, and Daughter) or expand the cast to eight, twelve, or sixteen by choosing four actors for Dad, four for Mom, and so on. Costumes are simple street clothes and so I would recommend just labeling the actors' shirts with DAD, MOM, SON, and DAUGHTER using those "Hello, My Name Is..." stickers but only if you use more than four actors.

The last scene is very important to me, so please don't skip it. While there is humor in tragedy, I also struggled with writing this piece because, like most people out there, this pandemic has personally affected me, my community, and the ones I love and care about. I had to find the humor in it for my own peace of mind, and I hope the spirit of my intentions come through and that we will all continue to support one another, not only during Covid-19, but in years to come.

Break a Leg!
~Bryan Starchman
May 1, 2020
San Francisco, CA

SYNOPSIS

Join this hilarious family as they struggle to endure being stuck at home – together! Why is the WiFi out, and will their old-school solutions work when all the needed cords are missing from the junk drawer? Will the family secure two-ply rolls of toilet paper in trade negotiations with Grandma? Wait... what has each of them been using? How many family game nights can teens endure? What foods (or beverages!) are critical enough to make a special run to the grocery store? And really, who is strong enough to endure more than one Dad joke?

This show is perfect providing both laugh-out-loud humor as well as flexibility in staging. It can be traditionally staged or performed and viewed online.

Stuck at Home

- 4 -

CAST OF CHARACTERS

*(Minimum 2 m, 2 w, 2 offscreen voices
Maximum 10 m, 10 w, 2 offscreen voices)*

DAD: (Sometimes called Frank) Enjoys bowling.

MOM: (Sometimes called Karen) Enjoys a clean house and reading.

SON: (Sometimes called Spencer) Son is a bit of a computer geek.

DAUGHTER: (Sometimes called Jenny) Fancies herself a fashion influencer.

OFFSCREEN VOICES:

NEWS REPORTER

GRANDMA

Scene 1: Dad, Mom, Son, Daughter, and News Reporter

Scene 2: Dad, Mom, Son, and Daughter

Scene 3: Dad, Mom, Son, Daughter, and Grandma

Scene 4: Dad, Mom, Son, and Daughter

Scene 5: Dad, Mom, Son, and Daughter

PROPS

TV remote - Dad

Cell phones – Dad, Daughter, Son

Disinfectant spray - Daughter

Stopwatch - Son

Notebook and pen – Son

Primary Spanish book – Son

Toothbrush – Mom

Mop - Mom

Plastic tub of spackle – Mom

2 full trash bags – Mom

Inhaler – Son

Tennis racket – Son

Headphones – Mom

VCR or cardboard box labeled “VCR” – Mom

Sock – Daughter

Super soaker squirt gun – Son

Romance novel - Mom

Wine glass – Mom

Old board games including: Monopoly, Jenga, Candy Land, Pictionary, The Game of Life, and Cards - Dad

Scene 1

(AT RISE: DAD, MOM, SON, and DAUGHTER sitting on a couch in their family room. The "fourth wall" is the TV and we see the family staring forward as they watch the news. This can be achieved by sharing a photo of a common living room and using it as the background as the family pretends they are all in the same room.)

NEWS REPORTER: (Offscreen voice.) And so the governor has mandated that we all shelter in place until further notice. How long could this last? Some are saying well into the summer months. So do your part, America, stay at home unless absolutely necessary, practice social distancing of at least six feet, be sure to frequently wash your hands or use hand sanitizer, and wipe down all surfaces with antibacterial spray. Together, we can flatten the curve.

DAD: (Mimes turning off the TV.) Well. I'm going out. It's bowling night.

MOM, SON, and DAUGHTER: No!

DAD: What? I'll be careful. I've got my own ball.

MOM: What about your shoes?

DAD: They spray down the shoes. I've seen them. Nothing could survive after Lou disinfects the shoes. I'm surprised Lou is still kicking considering the amount of disinfectant he must inhale every night.

SON: And Gary? What about your league partner Gary?

DAD: What about him?

DAUGHTER: Dad. Seriously. He picks his nose.

DAD: Not always.

SON: Yes. Always. It's like he's searching for his car keys up there.

DAD: Well...I won't touch Gary.

MOM: I would hope that you would never touch Gary. Regardless of the governor's warnings.

DAD: I promise to be extra careful. I'll even bring my own hand sanitizer.

DAUGHTER: (Looking at her phone.) Don't bother.

DAD: Why not?

DAUGHTER: (Holding her phone so DAD can see the screen.) Bowling alley is closed. (Hold the phone out of the frame so it looks like Dad can grab it.)

DAD: (Grabbing the phone - actually another phone but if done smoothly it will look like they've passed the phone off in Zoom.) What? How is this possible? The bowling alley is never closed! Lou didn't even close the lanes when his mother died!

MOM: (Rolling her eyes.) Class act, that Lou.

DAD: (Sitting on the couch, letting the phone fall beside him out of sight.) This is more serious than I thought.

(DAUGHTER picks up phone and sprays it down with an obscene amount of disinfectant spray.)

DAD: (Cont'd.) Um...excuse me. Is that really necessary? I still wash my hands.

DAUGHTER: Yeah. I heard you wash them.

SON: (Holding up a stopwatch.) And I timed you! 3.2 seconds! A new record!

DAD: What are you doing? Listening at the bathroom door?

SON: ...Maybe. (He pulls out a notebook and pen and writes something down.)

DAD: Why?

SON: (Shifty eyes.) Research. (He goes back to his notebook.)

(DAD just stares at his unusual son.)

MOM: The CDC says that you have to wash your hands for at least twenty seconds.

DAD: How do you time yourself washing your hands? Unlike some people in this house, I didn't spend my allowance on a stopwatch.

SON: Best forty bucks I ever spent.

DAD: Forty bucks!?

SON: It's silver plated!

DAUGHTER: You are such a nerd.

SON: Awwww! (Looking up from his notebook.) Thank you!

End of Freeview

Download your complete script from Eldridge Publishing

<https://histage.com/stuck-at-home-one-act-version>

Eldridge Publishing, a leading drama play publisher since 1906, offers more than a thousand full-length plays, one-act plays, melodramas, holiday plays, religious plays, children's theatre plays and musicals of all kinds.

For more than a hundred years, our family-owned business has had the privilege of publishing some of the finest playwrights, allowing their work to come alive on stages worldwide.

We look forward to being a part of your next theatrical production.

Eldridge Publishing... for the start of your theatre experience!